Things to Say When Out and About Say nothing.
Just catch his or her eye and give your brightest smile. Introduce your lover as "the love of my life." Then say "I really mean it" quietly in his or her ear. Call your lover a pet name that only the two of you know about.
Point out something you pass ...

The best dialogue can do all three. This is a rule that's often broken by great writers, but before you can get away with breaking it,
you have to understand why it exists.
Recently, I reread one of my first stories. I thought it would be fun to reread, but I was disappointed in much of the dialogue.
